

Consent Form

I, Barbara Cox, am asking you to participate in a research study titled "The Family Structure Study". I will describe this study to you and answer any of your questions.

The purpose of this research study is to mobilize the power of women to work together to change societal norms that contribute to human suffering. Through this study, we will find common themes from interviews that may help to identify root causes of autism, incarceration, mental and physical illness, pedophilia, gender confusion, etc.. I plan to interview as many women as possible.

I will use the family study template with your assistance to put your family structure on paper. I will also do a simple non-invasive eye dominance test on you and any available family members. The information collected will be recorded on the family study template. This meeting should take around one hour.

Your participation is voluntary. You have the right to withdraw prior to start, during the interview, and additionally you can refuse to answer any questions that make you feel uncomfortable.

NOTE: There may be follow-up questions as data is collected. I, Barbara Cox, will be the only person to reach out to you. As stated in this document, you have the right to refuse to participate.

There are no anticipated risks or discomforts associated with this study other than possible feelings of sadness or anxiety when talking about past, present, and future circumstances.

There is no cost associated with this study.

The benefits associated with this study are to help us find trends that contribute to the problems listed above. The trends that contribute to these problems can be used to inspire and motivate public officials to change our laws to help strengthen the family unit. Information from this study may benefit people in the future.

There is no compensation for participating in this study.

No audio or visual recordings of this meeting will be made. Information will be recorded on the family study template on paper.

Your identity will be kept separate from research data that is collected. I, Barbara Cox, am the only person that will have access to your identity. You also have the choice to remain anonymous. Your identifying information, if provided, will never be recorded electronically. Also, please remember that email communication is not private or secure. It could be read by a third party. Please use caution.

If you have any questions, please call me, Barbara Cox, at (830)624-5360.